MINISTERS TALK SHOP

Special Meeting of the Ministers of Sibley

A special meeting of the ministers of Sibley was held Monday, October 21, in the court house for the purpose of arranging for a union Thanksgiving program. The unqualified success of the Union meeting held last year in the Methodist church inspired the ministers with the hope that history may repeat itself.

In view of a larger circle of churches co-operating together in Sibley it was unanimously decided that the meeting of this year go to the Reformed church, with the proviso that the Reformed church may use a larger building in order to accommodate the crowd that is expected. Rev. Jopker of the Christian Reformed church was chosen as the preacher for the occasion, in view of the enlargement of the church circle. A special treat is being prepared for the Sibley people. The secret will be gently broken through these columns later on. We hope all the people in Sibley and vicinity will keep Thanksgiving evening open for this union date.

Prior to that, if the ban on public meetings be lifted by that time, there will be a union meeting also. All the churches represented at the Monday morning's meeting decided to join the Union meeting which is to be held in the Congregational church, on the evening of Sunday, November 10th, when the final session of the Osceola County Sunday School Convention will be staged. The churches which were not represented at Monday's meeting are also cordially invited to join in.
